CONFESSED TO MURDER OF WOMAN IN INDIANAPOLIS

Seth Nichols Arrested for Carrying a Gun
--Claims He Murdered Dr. Helene Knabe--Case One of the Most Mysterious in Crime Annals--Was Paid $1500 for the Deed--Indianapolis Police are Notified.

Seth Nichols arrested in this city has become famous.

Saturday evening for carrying concealed weapons, is the self-confessed murderer of Dr. Helene Knabe of Indianapolis, and his confession is genuine will clear up one of the most puzzling murders for many years. Nichols who was arrested by Officers Kelley and Philbrick on Water street, after he had made one bar tender take a drink at the point of a revolver, was arraigned before Judge Simms in court Monday afternoon and held in $100 for the upper court.

After he was held he asked for Deputy Marshal Hurley, and to him unfolded the story of a murder that Nichols was in a very nervous condition and on the verge of a breakdown when after struggling with his emotion for some time he owned up to the murder. At first the police were rather doubtful of his story, but a wire to the Chief of Police of Indianapolis confirmed the date given by Nichols and many of the facts. Nichols in his confession stated that he had purchased the revolver, which he was carrying Saturday night, for the purpose of committing suicide, as he was carrying to much of a load for him to stand, and it was either do away with himself or go crazy. When arrested and held under bonds with the prospects of a long session in jail, he could not stand it any longer and made his confession.

Nichols, who is 22 years of age, stated to Deputy Marshal that he was born in Chicago and his parents having died when he was young he had been thrown on the world, and when eighteen years of age he enlisted in the navy.

Last October he was attached to the U. S. S. Dixie, which was then lying at the Brooklyn navy yard being overhauled. He left the ship and drifted west to Indianapolis, where he had a sister living, Mrs. Grace Blackman, 242 East avenue, with a man named Knight, whose first name he never remembered of, calling. Knight was a good fellow and kept him supplied with drink and money. One day he suggested that he had a job for him to do and finally agreed to give him (Nichols) the sum of $1500 for doing away with Dr. Helene Knabe, a prominent woman physician, who had made a wide reputation for herself in the practice of medicine.

On the night of October 22, Nichols was taken to the apartment house where Dr. Knabe had a suite of rooms on the ground floor consisting of an office and living apartments. He obtained admission to the building and during the night succeeded in getting into her suite and finding her asleep in bed he killed her while she slept, cutting her throat. Leaving the building without being detected he was met by Knight and paid the money agreed upon and put on a train for the east. Arriving in New York he went on a prolonged drunk and with wine and women soon wasted his money and went back to his ship, as he claims squaring himself with the ship writer, whom he had made arrangements to mark him present. He accounts for his being able to do this as the ship was in repairs and liberty was granted to everybody and the musters were very few.

He served out his term in the navy and upon being discharged came to this city to see some friends, and while here he purchased the revolver and was planning to do away with himself when he got drunk and flushed the gun and was arrested.

Questioned, Nichols became a little hazy about the exact details of the case claiming that he was filled with liquor at the time of the murder and had been on a drunk for several days before that. The motive of Knight for doing away with the woman, he did not know, saying that Knight did not tell him and he was only interested in getting the money. The deed he claimed was committed with a long knife which was furnished him by Knight.

A message was sent to the Chief of Police of Indianapolis with a statement of Nichols confession and the police of that city wired back that the murder was committed on the date mentioned and they wanted Nichols held and a full statement taken.

The murder to which Nichols confesses was one of the most puzzling cases in the crime annals of the west. Dr. Helene Knabe, on the morning of October 24, was found by her secretary murdered in her bed in her apartment in one of the best locations and in a large apartment house. There was absolutely no clue to the murder or any motive for the crime ever discovered. She was a German girl who came to this country and worked as a domestic while working her way through one of the western universities, graduating with honors and subsequently taking up medicine. She gained a wide reputation for her researches and occupied a fine suite of rooms in one of the big apartment houses. The night of the murder nobody in the house heard any outcry, and the only clue was from a man who was passing the block who heard a woman scream and when it was not repeated he went on his way. Absolutely no motive was ever learned or the murder as Dr. Knabe did not have a relative in this country, and was not known to be intimate with anybody other than her associates in business and in her research work.

well dressed and not at all hard looking, and has the appearance of being an ordinary sailor.
Nichols was taken to the Rockingham County jail at 9 o'clock this morning by Deputy Marshal Hurley. Before being taken to that institution he was questioned by both City Marshal Entwistle and Deputy Marshal Hurley.
Chief Entwistle, who is somewhat skeptical of the man's story, asked him if he was not taking the yarn, and he replied, "No sir, every word of it is true."
To Deputy Marshal Hurley's questions, he said that he felt better, now that he had confessed the crime.
Nichols was questioned at length as to what object the man Knight had in wanting to get rid of Dr. Helene Knabe. He could give no reason other than Knight said that the woman was in his way.
This morning he claimed that Knight was present in the room at the time the murder was committed and that the two remained in Indianapolis for three or four days after the crime, before leaving for New York.
Besides his sister Mrs. Grace Blackman, he has a brother, who is a member of the crew of the U. S. S. Delaware.
The confession and picture of Nichols was forwarded this morning by the local police to Superintendent of Police Ryland of Indianapolis.

The Emery charges were made and the sheriff arrested during the recess. The scope of the legislative investigation will be outlined in Gov. Plaisted's communication.

The candidates for the vacancy in the United States Senate are Obadiah Gardner of Rockland, who was appointed temporarily at the time of the death of Senator William P. Frye, and Ex-Judge Frederick A. Powers of Houlton (Republican) nomination for the full term which begins in 1912.

Columbia's Strong Varsity Eight Out for a Spin on the Hudson And White and Blue's Captain

CAPTAIN DOWNING

New York, April 2.—Columbia oarsmen have begun their long period of training for the Poughkeepsie intercollegiate regatta to be held late in June. The warm weather for several days enabled Coach Jim Rice to have his men out on the Hudson for a few trial spins. Rice says Columbia will have a strong varsity eight and varsity four crews this season and should make a clean sweep of all the White and Blue races. All of the other colleges except Wisconsin have been out for a spin. The badgers are still confined to the indoor work, but Cornell, Pennsylvania and Syracuse have all been out this spring. There is but a month before the preliminary races on the Columbia schedule begin. These contests include the Annapolis race, the triangular regatta with Princeton and Pennsylvania and the Harlem regatta races, and Rice has mapped out a strenuous course of training for his proteges before the month of May arrives.

On Thursday the society will hold an all day session at the home of Mrs. V. H. Goodwin.

Frank Getchell has returned from Cooper's Mills, where he was called by the death of his grandmother.

Hon. Horace Mitchell went to Augusta on Monday.

Henry H. Hobbs of Haverhill, Mass., has arrived here to assume duties as conductor on the Atlantic Shore Line during the summer.

It was good to see our old acquaintance, the big white five masted schooner, "Dorothy Palmer" in the harbor once more on Monday.

She left here for Norfolk Jan. 13 in tending to return at once, but for forty-three days was not heard from in any way. After having been blown hundreds of miles to sea by the fierce northwest gales which followed her departure from Portsmouth, she finally turned up off

Nantucket with sails blown away, and windlass broken, but the hull was in good condition, thanks to the skillful handling of her veteran commander, Capt. Harding, whose reputation on the coast as a successful mariner is second to none. The big schooner reached Baltimore March 18 and left there for Portsmouth on the 22nd, having a fine run up the coast after her previous tough experience.

GENERAL GRANT ON A VACATION

New York, April 1.—Gen. Frederick Dent Grant, U. S. A., commander of the Department of the East, has left Governors Island for a period of rest.

Just where he has gone cannot be learned, but it is said he is with numbers of his family, and will be gone for four months. The general's departure gave rise to rumors that he was seriously ill, but this is denied at Governors Island.

"It is not a matter of general interest," said Lieut. Howes, Gen. Grant's aide-de-camp, today. "He has simply gone away to visit with members of his family, and I do not believe that he would care to have any publicity given to the fact."

Gen. Grant is 62 years old.

NEW HAMPSHIRE PASTOR CONDEMNS ROOSEVELT

Exeter, N. H., April 1.—The Rev. S. H. Dana, pastor of Phillips church before a meeting of the Young Men's Taft League tonight, said he did not hesitate to condemn Theodore Roosevelt as an assassin of truth, friendship and the fundamental principles of government expressed in the constitution of the United States.

He regretted that in the gubernatorial campaign he had given his support to Gov. Bass and said that after a month of that administration he had realized his mistake. In becoming one of the seven sanctioning Gov. Bass, he said, spoiled his reputation for straightforward politics in this state.

Edwin G. Eastman the secretary retired attorney-general of New Hampshire, said the people of New Hampshire had been educated to a high regard for its laws and courts and could not be flattered into disregard by a candidate who sought to eradicate the supreme court of the United States because he could not coerce that court to his own line of thought.

CASCARETS FOR A SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Gently but thoroughly cleanse and regulate your Stomach, Liver and Bowels while you sleep.

That awful sourness belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach; the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating, after-eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, mean indigestion; a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they cure indigestion because they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended forever. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing too.

EXETER LETTER

Many Interesting Items from the Academy Town.

Saturday was the seventieth birthday of George W. Gadd, one of the well known citizens of Exeter who went to the war of the Rebellion, but who is also known as a cobbler of times past. Mr. Gadd has for many years done business in his shop on Academy street near Phillips Exeter academy, and some of the boys whom he had done business are today the country's leading men. He has on his list such men as Robert T. Lincoln, son of President T. D. Lincoln, son of President Lincoln; Charlemagne Tower, former United States ambassador to Germany, and others who are known throughout the country.

He tells of Mr. Tower, who had a shoe of a peculiar make when he was in Exeter, and it was for a long time that he did not know the boy's name and upon inquiry was amused at such an odd name. Mr. Tower was a member of the class of '88. The shop where Mr. Gadd does business was also used by his father for the same business. His name was Thomas Gadd and he came from England, and also did work for the Phillips Exeter boys. Mr. Gadd is in good health, and many wishes him well on his natal day yesterday.

He enlisted in the Fifteenth, New Hampshire regiment in August, 1863, and served till August, 1864, when he came back to Exeter and has since remained. He is the son of Thomas and Ann (Pittigrew) Gadd and is a native of Exeter.

The second of the Exeter Choral union concerts is to be held at the opera house April 11 and the seats are to go on sale at Batchelder's book store Tuesday of this week. The chorus will be assisted by a string orchestra and also by Bertha Zinnell, soprano soloist.

ROCKINGHAM COUNTY

William H. Palmer, a veteran of Upton Post, G. A. R. of Derry has returned to his home after spending the winter in Florida. He went to Panama City, Fla., where he found very pleasant quarters and was delighted with the climate there. The coldest weather he experienced was twenty-eight above zero. There the natives would build little fires in the street in front of their houses and stand around them in the morning to keep warm. On his return, Mr. Palmer attended the reunion of his army regiment, the seventy-seventh and fifty-ninth Massachusetts. There he saw a number of his old comrades. In one of the fierce battles during the war, Mr. Palmer was taken prisoner and was held in a rebel prison for some time. He tells many interesting war stories.

Fifteen members of the Pinkerton class of 1912 of Derry, left at the close of school at the week end, and went to Boston with one of their teachers, Miss Mary M. Poor, as chaperon. At Boston a party of the chaperon's former pupils from Amesbury, joined them and all proceeded on their way for an eight days trip to Washington, sightseeing.

Mrs. John W. Silver of Deerfield, passed her 79th birthday, March 20. She was born in Chester, Me. 30, 1833 and was the daughter of Capt. Joseph and Deborah Chase. She was the only daughter in a home that already sheltered six boys. She went to work in a spinning mill in Manchester at the age of 16. On May 5, 1859 she married John W. Silver. Three children have been born to them. The children are all dead.

Mr. and Mrs. Silver have always lived in Deerfield. Mr. Silver is 82 years of age, and is the owner of a large and well operated farm, and is, like his wife, an active church worker.

VERMONT CLAIMED FOR TAFT BY GOV. MEAD

Roosevelt's Managers Claim One District and Delegates at Large.

Rutland, Vt., April 1.—Gov. John A. Mead and other Republican leaders made another canvass of Saturday's caucuses today, and claim that the four delegates chosen at next week's State convention and the two from the 1st District convention will be for Taft, and that the 2d district is in doubt, with Roosevelt slightly in the lead.

Gov. Mead issued the following statement today:

"From reliable private advices, mostly from town committees, received by mail and by telephone from all sections of the State, I am satisfied that the four delegates-at-large and the two delegates from the 1st District will be for President Taft, virtually as indicated by Chairman F. S. Williams.

"While apparently Roosevelt has a slight lead in the 2d District I am hopeful that more definite returns will find the two delegates there involved will be in President Taft's support also.

Owing to the scattering location of the strong Roosevelt towns on the east side of the State, I am inclined to think that the outcropping of Roosevelt sentiment is spasmodic and not an indication of the real temper of the State."

Judge Ernest W. Gibson of Brattleboro and other Roosevelt leaders were positive today that Roosevelt had carried the 2d District by a wide margin and would win the four delegates-at-large by a narrow plurality. The Roosevelt leaders admitted that Taft had the lead in the 1st District.

WEATHER INDICATION.

The following Weather Bureau Bulletin for the coming week has just been issued from Washington, D. C.:

"The distribution of barometric pressures over the North American Continent and the adjacent oceans is such as to indicate temperatures near the seasonable average over the greater part of the country during the coming week.

During Monday and Tuesday there will be a change to cooler weather in Northern and Middle States from the Mississippi Valley eastward, but it will be of short duration and will be quickly followed by rising temperature. The next change to colder weather will appear in the Northwest Thursday or Friday.

"The precipitation during the week will be probably much less than has occurred in any one of the three preceding weeks. A depression that now covers the Southwest will likely cause local rains the first half of the week in the Southern States, and a disturbance now over Alaska will enter Northwestern States about Tuesday, cross the Middle West Wednesday or Thursday, and Eastern States about Friday, attended by a short period of rain over the Rocky Mountain region and the districts east thereof.

"William L. Moore, Chief United States Weather Bureau."

TRYING TO REGULATE MARRIAGE.
Bishop Anderson of Chicago, supported by a goodly array of pastors in other cities, has declared that the church should not celebrate marriages unless the intending bride and groom bring certificates of health and sanity. A Boston lady, the Rev. Mabel H. Witham, now purposes to subject the candidates to three other tests as well. She will require the certificate of a financier that the man is able to support a wife; one from a housekeeper that the woman is able to take charge of a household, and finally she would have evidence that the pair are supplied with "love immortal and divine which will render things glorious in their lives." These are hard rules. No man ever lived that was perfectly healthy and sane in the opinion of a physician. No young man was ever deemed quite competent to attend to business by an old financier. No young woman was ever adjudged a good housekeeper by a council of grandmothers. And who shall give assurance of the love immortal and divine?—New York World.

Let Scene In Mexico City, Rebel Leader Orozco and American Ambassador, Who Requested Ammunition.

Photos of Wilson and Orozco copyright by American Press Association.

The situation in Mexico has assumed such grave proportions that the residents of the capital itself fear an attack on the city by General Orozco and his followers. Rebel successes at other points created great alarm in Mexico City, and the foreigners gathered at their legations. American Ambassador Wilson acquainted Washington with the facts, and a carload of arms was rushed to him, while the landing of United States marines was seriously considered. Orozco's victories over the federal forces have lent encouragement to the rebels, and an attack on the capital is not regarded as without the bounds of probability.

A STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION

Great interest is manifested all over the country is the plan of the city government of Los Angeles to issue a paper for the purpose of keeping the people of that city informed as to what is being done by the city government. The paper which will be called the Los Angeles Municipal News and will be issued weekly and sent free to all registered voters. The sum of $36,000 has been appropriated by the city and advertising will be sought to make possible the expansion of the paper.

Entirely apart from the success or failure of the paper, however, is its motto, "City business is your business." Any city which can lead the majority of its people to feel that this is true will be well governed. The reason for the failure of our form of government in large cities has been that everything has been somebody else's business. And responsibility has been passed along until it has gladly been assumed by those who were willing to do the work, after a fashion, because of the possibility of money making which were connected with it. Where a city's business is nobody's business, the offices are soon taken over by those who see in public office a source of private gain. Where the business of a city is a matter of life interests to the body of the people, where the voters are kept informed as to what is going on, where they have a chance, not to hear speeches but to study facts, it is impossible that any very wide departures from the lines of justice and efficiency can be made. This is a truth which might well be hammered home into all of our hearts.

People who pay taxes have a right to know how the money is being spent in every well governed city and when any department or commission in a city refuses to allow the citizen access to their business methods it is time to call a halt. The action of the Los Angeles city government could be copied to advantage in many cities where more publicity would gain more confidence for the officials who have the spending of the money.

Says the Boston Globe if you don't know exactly when the big league baseball season will begin, just ask the first boy you meet.

The New York Tribune says: Big business is mercenary. When the Standard Oil decision was announced hands were represented as being wrung and the fate of enterprise was wept over. And now the mere failure to convict the packers is said to inspire the belief that the courts and the Sherman law are impotent.

It is impossible for current statesmanship to reason with a suffragette who insists in thinking that the question of votes for women is more important than schedule K.

The history of strikes in general is not such as to encourage the wage earner to incautious demonstration in that direction.

The off hand way in which a representative from the middle west disposed of a proposition to build battleships would suggest that there is nothing like inland experience to qualify a man for quick decision on maritime affairs.

Dr. Elliot is right in saying that a contributor to print is not always permitted to express his mind with unrestrained freedom. But, for that matter, neither is a college professor.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES.

Auto Reciprocity.

The New Jersey senate on second thought has reconsidered its unfavorable action on the automobile reciprocity bill and has given the measure its approval. It is expected that Gov. Wilson will sign it. He can hardly do otherwise as the bill is a broad measure, putting New Jersey on a parity with the states about her. It will break down the wall of exclusion which delays and annoys automobilists of other states at the border of New Jersey and compels them to pay tribute and qualify themselves by a special license before venturing upon any of the highways of that state. Each state has its laws regulating automobile travel and prescribing a license for each car. The reciprocity provision among the states simply means that the motorists who comply with the laws of their own state may visit and use the highways of a neighboring state on their home license provided that a similar courtesy is allowed to the motorists of the state which they in turn cross into another state. All the eastern states have a law of this character except New Jersey. This state has heretofore refused this neighborly and mutually beneficial reciprocity, but the pending bill when signed will put it in harmony with its sister states. Philadelphia Press.

From Way Down South.

The fast freight service of the railroads reaching southward does not wait for winter to get out of the lap of spring in the business of furnishing the middle and northern zone cities with garden truck, redolent of the soil. Each recurring spring time apparently marks a little further southward movement of our kitchen garden dependencies. There is hardly anything in the line of fresh vegetables that cannot now be obtained in the city markets. The price of most of these commodities is rather fanciful.

Portsmouth People Give Credit Where Credit is Due.

People of Portsmouth who suffer with sick kidneys and bad backs want a kidney remedy that can be depended upon. The best is Doan's Kidney Pills, a medicine for the kidneys only, made from pure roots and herbs, and the only one that is backed by willing testimony of Portsmouth people. Here's a case: James Pickles, 11 Burdett St., Portsmouth, N. H., says "I was afflicted with kidney disease for several years and was unable to find relief from dull pains in my back until a few months ago when I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Philbrick's Pharmacy. Often I had such severe pains across my loins that I could scarcely move. The kidney secretions contained sediment and were so frequent in passage that I was obliged to arise several times at night. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me from the first and continued entirely cured me."

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY
Gleanings From Files of Portsmouth Chronicle

Leut. W. McGinnis, commanding the U. S. steamer Sebago, at Portsmouth Navy Yard, has been detached from that vessel and ordered to report to Com'r. Foote, at Cairo, La. Edmund W. Henry of the Massachusetts, also at Portsmouth Navy Yard, has been ordered to the Sebago.

Messrs. Editors:—
In the dock at our Navy Yard here is a new gunboat, which is exactly fit to be covered with iron, and needs no alteration. Build upon her about eighteen inches of armor over her with good iron plates, and she would go into any harbor by almost any fort. All the work she needs can be done before her machinery will get here and be put into her, and can be done here as well and quick as anywhere. Why shall it not be? A Mechanic.

Mr. Seward's diplomatic correspondence has been reprinted by the British Parliament, a very unusual, if not altogether, unprecedented mark of respect.

ful, but there is undoubtedly a brisk demand—Baltimore American.

Will Mr. Roosevelt Bolt?

Mr. Roosevelt is beaten and he knows that he is beaten. All his frantic raving about fraud and corruption and trickery and marked cards in New York and Indiana is ludicrous. It is the cry of wounded vanity. It is a confession of defeat. But while Mr. Taft's renomination at Chicago is certain, it is still in Mr. Roosevelt's power to wreck revenge. He is not without considerable influence in certain sections of the country often shown. He has been humiliated and by nature he is intensely vindictive.

Mr. Roosevelt cannot possibly be nominated at Chicago. But the one effect of his factional fight from now on will be to weaken Mr. Taft and to contribute to his defeat in November. In his Chicago speech Wednesday, without using the word "bolt," Mr. Roosevelt came as near urging his partisans to bolt as it was possible to come. His declaration that no Republican should feel obliged to support a candidate nominated by such methods as Mr. Roosevelt alleges are being employed in Mr. Taft's interest is open to but one meaning. His later denial that he had said that he would bolt was an unnecessary explanation. The effect was the same, and perhaps the purpose, regardless of the exact words used.

Mr. Roosevelt is no novice in politics. He knows what he is doing. He knows that he is beaten for the nomination and he knows how Taft can be beaten in November.—New York World.

A Definite Third Term Movement.

When Washington precedent had been fixed for almost a century the country was astonished by a definite and determined third term movement. The story of the attempt to nominate Gen. Grant for a third term is comparatively recent and familiar history. It was a movement not of the people, but of leaders belonging to a powerful faction. Had it succeeded, as it nearly did, the Democrats would probably have come into control of the country. Those who look back upon it realize now how unfit Gen. Grant was to administer the office a third term, how little, indeed, he added to his just fame by accepting the nomination for the presidency in 1868. Those who opposed his third nomination must also realize now that the talk of Caesarism in the face of that remarkable movement was really meaningless. Grant was far too loyal a man to lend himself to the destruction of his country's liberties, and he would have gone into the campaign for a third term the victim of politicians who hoped to control the party and the country through him. There was a genuine shock, however, at the proposal to depart from the custom of "all those years. At the same time the proposal set men to discussing the question, and while public sentiment was overwhelming against the third term, the public mind was in a measure prepared for the revival of the proposal when a few Democrats looked to Grover Cleveland after his retirement in 1897 as a possible candidate for the conservative wing of the party. The argument was then made the objection to a third term did not apply if the three terms were not consecutive, but it was not very seriously taken by the rank and file of Democrats. The popular notion was still strong that Washington's example had behind it sound public reason. Only once in a century had the wisdom of Washington in this matter been seriously questioned by a considerable part of the American people. And at length the question is once more brought up, this time under slightly different conditions than appeared when it was mooted with regard to Cleveland and Grant and to Monroe.—Boston Herald.

Frequent applications having been made to the War Department from a change of position from the volunteer to the regular service, the Secretary of War has established a rule that no transfer of this kind will be made during the war, but all must seek promotion in their own branch of service.

The Post says about fifty fine looking, stalwart recruits passed through Boston on Monday, en route for the 2nd N. H. Regiment, now in Hooker's Division, under charge of Capt. Edward L. Bailey and Lieut. H. D. F. Young. They left for New York at 5 p. m. by way of Stonington.

The Charleston papers admit that twelve men were killed on board the Merrimac, that her smoke stack was shot away and that she went into Norfolk in a sinking condition. The first report stated that Com. Buchanan was wounded; the second announced his death.

Congress and Pensions.

The Senate has substituted the McCumber pension bill for the Sherwood bill, and the matter goes to be experienced in reaching it. In conference. There is expectation of the House the Sherwood bill had a largely majority, drawn from both sides of the chamber and in the Senate the McCumber bill passed by a vote of two to one. This appears to foreshadow a long war.

The Sherwood bill carries a very large sum, though there is dispute as to the size of it. Opponents put the figure at seventy-odd millions annually while supporters put it much lower. But, at the lowest, the figure is large, and particularly so at a time when tariff revision with a view of reducing revenue is on the congressional card, and economy is the House cry.

The McCumber bill carries about twenty-five millions annually and in details is well drawn. It meets the views of many friends of the old soldiers, and should it become law would carry benefit to many worthy veterans.

As usual, when pensions are under discussion, both sides are accused of playing politics. The veterans, it is charged, are being coddled for their votes. Bidding is in progress, and as the case stands the House is the highest bidder.

Whatever individual politicians may have in mind, the record shows that the old soldiers are not manipulable in this or any other way. They are not for sale. No man or set of men can deliver them at the polls. They do their own thinking, choose their own side, and vote according to their own convictions on public questions in general.

Naturally and properly, they have desired the recognition of the government they helped to save. The service they performed was inestimable. No expression of it in dollars and cents is possible. A mere money price could not be put upon it.

The veterans appreciate the fact that the government has dealt generously by them. Pension allowances have been large and long continued, and veterans have had preference in the distribution of much patronage. No other government has so fine a chapter in its history and this government has none finer in its own.

Nor does this feeling of appreciation abate as the years lengthen. Thus of legislators who voted the first pensions, vote pensions as willingly as did their fathers; and 3 Congress St., Portsmouth, N. H. Hours 9:30 to 12; 2 to 4.

the warmest sympathy with the cause of good care of the survivors of the great host that responded to the war's appeals while they were ringing.

A generous pension record should be continued, but not beyond provision of course for finding the money before voting any sum for any purpose, Congress should be sure of the ability of the Treasury to cash the warrant Washington Star.

EXETER

Beverly S. McGaughey Monday morning began his duties as chief of police to succeed the late Charles G. Gooch. Chief McGaughey will act during the pleasure of the commissioners, who appointed him last Saturday. The applicants for the position were reported to have been many but after the scrutiny of the commissioners there were many who were not to be considered.

The appointment is a popular one, as the new chief has long been an officer having served for nine years on the force and two years as a special previous to that. He was greeted this morning by congratulations from all quarters. As an officer he has been alert and while filling the position during the past three weeks has figured conspicuously in detective work with Deputy Sheriff F. O. Tilton.

The regular meeting of Gilman Grange was held Monday evening in Grange hall there being for the literary part an essay by Dr. Alice Chesley, an essay on "Farm and Home Sanitation." The open discussion was "Should Agriculture Be Taught in Our Public Schools?" Other parts of the program were a reading by Mrs. O. A. Litch and a piano duet by Fannie Thorpe and Eva Butler. The next meeting is to be held April 15, when neighbors night will be observed.

The firemen held a meeting Saturday for the purpose of making arrangements for a firemen's memorial Sunday and the date of the fourth Sunday in June was selected. Day, William McLane and Howard T. Pitman.

Suit Brought Against Portsmouth Brewing Co. By Mr. W. L. Conlon.

A charge of mismanagement has been filed against the officers of the Portsmouth Brewing Company, in a suit brought by Mr. William L. Conlon of this city, one of the stockholders. In his suit he asks for the appointment of a receiver until such time as a full investigation can be made.

The papers in the suit were filed with the clerk of court last week and the case will probably be heard at this term of court. There are many allegations, setting forth that the directors are running the company for personal gain without regard to the

THE SOCIAL SECRETARY,

An Interesting Love Story Told in a Photo Play at Music Hall.

The picture program at Music hall Monday evening consisted of a good variety of photoplays. "The Social Secretary" is an interesting picture. It is a love story but it has an unusual ending. A young man advises his fiance to advertise for a social secretary. She does this and the result is that she engages a pretty widow. The latter meets the young man and with both of them it is a case of love at first sight. The young man despite the fact that he is already pledged to her employer, declares his love. The widow resigns her position so she won't have to meet him. Soon after the young man discovers another gentleman making love to his fiance. This situation solves the difficulty for them both for they reach an understanding between them, the young woman releases the man from his engagement, takes the other man and her first lover is finally united with the young widow.

"Fishing in Florida" shows some good fishing scenes and some big fish. "The Baby Tramp" is an amusing picture, showing the ingenuity of two tramps and the trouble that it causes for them.

Other pictures shown were "A Circumstance" and "A Victim of Circumstances."

The vaudeville acts, The Village Four, a quartet of clever singers and Dickens and Floyd, in the comedy sketch, "Did Tim Make Good" were both well received.

Miss Allie Franklin sings, "Dreams of Gold" and "The Garden of Roses Changes to Thorns."

GRAND TRUNK RAILROAD PLANS ARE PRESENTED

Baxter Offers to Submit Maps and Routes to Committee

Boston, Mass., April 2.—Attorney Charles S. Baxter appeared before the committee on railroads in executive session yesterday and stated that he had with him the maps and plans of the routes of the proposed lines of the Southern New England railroad, the Grand Trunk subsidiary line from the New Hampshire border into Boston and from Douglas cross-country to Boston, but that counsel felt that it would be prejudicial to the interests of the Grand Trunk railroad to make them public at this time, although he had them to submit to the committee if it desired them. Mr. Baxter was told that the committee, when ready to view the plans, would call for them.

James Murdock of Cleveland, O., vice president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and W. L. McMenimen, chairman of the legislative committee of the trainmen, were heard. Mr. Murdock desired to refute President Fitzhugh's statements as to the settlement of the dispute between the Grand Trunk Railway Company and its employees in train and yard service.

Mr. Murdock stated that the company has not complied with the agreement that it would put back as soon as possible the men other than those who had been found guilty of violence or disorderly conduct; that not a man who was put back on the Central Vermont has received the back pay under the retroactive agreement, and that wages of the men put back Jan. 1, are being cut.

John Savage, representing division 40 of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, sent a letter to the committee declaring that the roadbed of the New London Northern railroad which is under control of the Grand Trunk is in such condition that the Grand Trunk should be granted no further privileges in Massachusetts. He said the Grand Trunk had not been fair to its engineers in the matter of wages.

The statements of Mr. Savage as to the condition of the subsidiary line were similar to the report filed with the committee by C. A. Magill, civil engineer.

ing pictures. They give you as much as if they were painting or sculpture—for in children's bodies art has always had interest enough—only what a child looks like, the pretty weakness, the instinct for play, the native gesture and movement. Not till the "return to nature," not till the spirit of romance moved on the waters at the end of the eighteenth century, do you find poets beginning to tell of the thought and faith in a child's mind, the mysteries of the child's heart, the fancies that are dreams and the fancies that are visions. You may think that they have gone too far, that they read into childhood the laborious philosophy and sometimes the laborious sentimentality of the adult. But no one who loves children will deny that the host of the children in nineteenth century books have a far richer reality, a far fuller life than any that were born in earlier words. And some of the best are in Dickens.

VALUE OF FORESTS PROVED

In Addition to Conserving Rainfall, They Are of Other Aids to Agriculture.

While the rainfall of any region is dependent on dynamic influences in the atmosphere, and can be affected only in a very slight degree, if at all, by the extent of that region covered by forests, it has certainly been shown that woods and forests conserve rainfall. The briefest consideration indicates the likelihood that this must be so, because vegetation and the ground covered with vegetation absorb water and allow it to percolate slowly to the lower levels, whereas on bare ground the rainwater runs quickly away to sea. But trees serve another purpose in aid of agriculture; because, as some recent experiments show, they act as windbreaks and shelters to growing crops. The distance to which the protective influence of trees extends is estimated at twenty times their height, though complete protection, such as might be afforded to growing wheat in a gale, extends only to a distance eight times the height of the trees. Partial protection is about twelve to fourteen times the height. They also check evaporation of rainfall, their influence extending five times their height to windward and eighteen times to leeward, and preserve as much as 70 per cent. of moisture ordinarily lost. Finally, their influence heats both air and soil, increasing the diurnal range of temperature by as much as nine degrees Fahrenheit.

GIVE REALITY TO THE CHILD

Writers of the Nineteenth Century Responsible for Valuable Addition to Literature.

Children were only found yesterday. Before the nineteenth century the child mind and the child heart were not supposed to have enough in them to interest the majestic adult. It is true that you find a delightful baby in Homer; that in Vergil there is the prettiest glimpse of a little girl, and up and down in the classics you may meet half a dozen other pleasant shadows of children. But they are only shadows, only of the nineteenth century.

ENGLAND COAL STRIKE ENDED MINERS RETURN

Miners in This Country Suspend Work Pending Agreement With Owners.

London, April 1.—Although the end of the strike will come none too soon, for cold weather set in again yesterday, and throughout the complete returns of the battle in the coal districts of the north and industrial districts of the south, the miners of England are in a state of suspension of work. The strike is a "suspension" of work, and whether it will develop into a wide-spread strike depends on the outcome of voting in the union ranks and of conferences between the men and employers within the next 10 days.

As the votes from the various mines come in, the majority in favor of taking up their tools again steadily increases. Thus far, of the 43,000 votes counted, over 25,000 have declared for resumption.

The bulk of the miners in Warwickshire resumed work today, and at the Dudley Coal Fields in Worcestershire coal drawing is in progress. There was a partial resumption this morning in the Forest of Dean mines and elsewhere in England considerable numbers of miners went down the pits.

The end of the strike will come none too soon, for cold weather set in again yesterday, and throughout the complete returns of the battle in the coal districts of the north and industrial districts of the south, the miners of England are in a state of suspension of work. The strike is a "suspension" of work, and whether it will develop into a wide-spread strike depends on the outcome of voting in the union ranks and of conferences between the men and employers within the next 10 days.

A few factories in some districts which had hoarded coal for the emergency were able to reopen their works to the men today, as they were assured of future supplies, but others which had no coal in stock, as well as some of the big cotton mills and iron works in Lancashire, which hitherto have been kept going by the exercise of the strictest economy, will now be forced to shut down for a short time, at least.

Outside of ranks of the miners there are more men out of work today than there were a week ago, and it is calculated that the unemployed now number considerably over 2,000,000 in all parts of the country.

It is estimated that up to date the loss in wages alone since the beginning of the strike amounts to $60,000,000.

Scores of thousands of coal miners quit work Monday in the anthracite fields of Pennsylvania and in the "central competitive field" of the bituminous portion of the industry. Officially the movement is a "suspension" of work, and whether it will develop into a wide-spread strike depends on the outcome of voting in the union ranks and of conferences between the men and employers within the next 10 days.

Anthracite men are more apprehensive than the bituminous owners as to the ultimate outcome. This condition is predicated on the fact that there is no definite agreement immediately in sight for the hard coal men, whereas the bituminous conference at Cleveland adjourned after the men's representatives had abandoned practically all their demands except for increased wages, and on this point modified their terms considerably.

The union men are to take a referendum ballot at once as to whether the modified terms for a new wage agreement are to be accepted, and there is a general feeling that the result of the ballot will be a return to work.

Upon the outcome of the voting in the "central competitive field" comprising Pennsylvania, Indiana and Illinois will depend also the basis for new wage scales in other sections of the country where the present agreements do not expire until May 1, or later. Southern and Southwestern mines and the comparative few in the Rocky Mountain States are affected by this status of affairs.

West Virginia and Kentucky bituminous fields will not be greatly concerned unless the present "suspension" becomes a strike. Non-union labor predominates in these mines and the men in previous similar situations in the industry, have shown a disposition to continue at work.

Approximately 400,000 men are directly affected today and some 300,000 more, scattered throughout the coal districts of the country are watching the outcome of the "suspension" for its possible effect on their own wages and working conditions. It probably will be at least 30 days before all mines will have resumed if the referendum votes and conferences result favorably, and the last 10 days of that period may present a problem as to fuel supply to industries of all characters.

THIS WEEK'S LIFE

The Easter season is always made notable by the appearance of a large double number of Life, which comes to us freighted with fun and filled with fundamental observation and pictures in Life's own peculiar atmosphere.

This Easter Number is over eighty pages in size, and is quite remarkable for the wide variety of its pictures; notable among these is a center page cartoon printed in colors. The picture is by W. L. Jacobs, and, as a character study of American life, it is one of the most interesting pictures we have ever seen.

The cover of this number, by the way is also a distinctive piece of color work; and besides being very interesting poster type drawing, represents a young girl trying on her grandmother's bonnet. The hat box shows the line where the cover has fitted over the top, the rest of the box being faded, thus adding an old-time flavor to the picturesque picture.

The announcement of the winner of Life's contest for the best title to a given picture appears in this number. In these contests thousands of answers are sent in, and the decision is made by five judges in Life's office.

Among other features in this number are two pages of caricatures by James Montgomery Flagg in his own best manner.

A review of the month by Richard and Information and advice from Life's Fashion Reform Bureau—this time all about children.

On the whole, Life has in this number maintained its very high standard.

Itch! Itch! Itch! — Scratch! Scratch! Scratch! The more you scratch the worse the itch. Try Doan's Ointment. It cures piles, eczema, any skin itching. All drug stores sell it.

ABIDING PLACE OF MICROBES

Eliminate the Vacant Seat and the Church Will Bloom into Splendid Health.

There are microbes that are menacing the church with dire defeats; they're bacilli, that produce the plague entitled Vacant Seats. There's an influence arising from these weary, dreary pews, that's as pestiferous as the breath of rank, malarial dews. If diagnosis we would make of churches void of heat, we'd find the mercury had dropped down in the vacant seat. The doctors ought to busy get, the church's health to save, because this situation is becoming very grave. Napoleon wished once, 'tis said, to break a conquered bell; his soldiers swung their hammers free, and pounded hard and well; but firm, uninjured, strong, it stood, resisting every stroke, until they hit from the inside, and then, it quickly broke. Thus what the church needs most to fear, is not the outside sin, but spineless, lackadaisical inactivity within. And that which blocks and trips the church, and rolls her down the stairs, is the nominal adherent who, however, isn't there. If we could but eliminate this stunting empty seat, the church would soar in glorious flight, amazingly complete. There is a remedy that works at any time and place; it's every one, at every time, and always, in his place. If you would give this formula a keen, conclusive search, just try it well, next Sunday, at the Presbyterian church, or any place of worship where you feel you'd like to be, and the medicine and healing you'll find tally to a T.—The Continent.

REMEMBER THE LOVED ONES

Pathetic Religious Ceremony That Is Observed by People of the Isle of Ushant.

In the island of Ushant—the "Isle of Fear"—there exists a custom probably unknown in any other part of Christendom. When a native dies abroad or is lost at sea, his relatives have a small wax cross made, some seven inches long. This is solemnly taken to the church and presented to the priest, who deposits it in a box shaped like a cinerary urn, that hangs on the south side of the altar of St. Joseph. This is called the "Pro Elia" cross, and is supposed to stand for the spirit of the dead. These memorial symbols are allowed to accumulate in the box till the next church festival comes round. As these revival services are held only once in every four or five years, the number of crosses may be very considerable. A day is then set apart for their solemn interment. It is the great day, the climax of the mission. The church is draped in black and crowded with a mourning congregation, many of whom break out into loud wailing. The crosses are brought from their urn in solemn procession, a regular mass is said over them, and then they are carried to the churchyard, the iron door of the tomb is unlocked, and they are interred with full honors. Throughout the year hardly a day passes but some pious soul comes to sprinkle the tomb with holy water and say a prayer before it for the dead.—Wide World Magazine.

Ireland's Big Cavern.

A Frenchman made the first complete exploration of one of the largest caverns in the world, that at Mitchells town, Ireland. The explorer was Martel, who is also famous for his discoveries in the caverns of France. The Mitchellstown cavern is formed in limestone, and is remarkable for the number and extent of its connected passages, which, when plotted on a chart resemble the streets of a city. The length of the cave is about a mile and a quarter, and it contains some animal inhabitants, including a species of spider, which are peculiar to it and have their entire existence within its recesses.—The Sunday Magazine.

Hurt of Unkind Words.

Unkind words are sharper than swords. If you cut your finger there is but temporary pain. If your heart is hurt with sarcasm or brutal speech the suffering continues as long as your memory is working. Since we all know the agony of injured feelings it certainly behooves all of us to be sparing with stinging conversation. As one grows wiser and older one pays little heed to what others say. Unkind things then apparently don't have the power to hurt. The older, wiser ones just twirl their thumbs and smile. It is a great relief when one gets to that point of perfect tranquillity.

Relief From Influenza.

Influenza, as is believed by the majority of medical men at present, is caused by a microbe which is present in the atmosphere, when the epidemic is raging. The surest safeguard against a disease arising from a microbe is to use antiseptics; of these carbolic acid and eucalyptus oil have been found of most use for the prevention and cure of influenza. The best way of using these is in the form of a smelling-bottle containing, in addition to carbolic and eucalyptus, camphor, charcoal and ammonia.

The Limit.

"Well, I see that that jackass Elmerberry has gone and put his head in the noose again," said Hawkins. "Worse than that," said Banta. "He's got it in the noose papers."

AVOID THE MAN THAT SNEERS

Whole Existence Spoiled for Unfortunate Wife Tied to Such an Individual.

How would you like to be tied for life to a snake whose fangs slowly poisoned your blood, though it is not avowedly dangerous?

Silly question, say you? Cleopatra with her asp—which they say is only a myth these days—is no surer of extinction than is the whole-some woman who marries a man who sneers.

So often this sneer is hidden under polished exterior. The girl does not at first realize the sting. She calls her lover critical or particular, or perhaps thinks his cynicism a sign of breeding or great intellectuality.

She begins by heeding that sneer, first in trifles such as behavior or dress; later it gets in its deadly poison on ideals and principles. It takes a brave woman and an exceptionally strong-minded one to stand out against the cynicism of the man she loves. Unconsciously she is influenced. Before she realizes the deadly influence her whole view of life is changed. A girl of sweet nature but not too much brilliancy, married to a sneerer, becomes nothing more than a faint record of his warped vision. She may start out trusting, unsuspicious, loving, but life with the sneerer leads her to wonder if there is such a thing as honor and truth and goodness in this bad world.—Exchange.

ONCE THE HOME OF AUDUBON

Beautiful Mansion Where Great Naturalist Died Is Now a New York Tenement.

In a dismal hollow, at the foot of One Hundred and Fifty-eighth street New York, overlooking the Hudson, is a great square house that looks as if it ought to be haunted—and perhaps it is. It was once magnificent. Its lawns were perfect and its fountains played in the sunlight. On every side of it were other handsome homes, and all the owners were friends of long standing. Now the granite wall of Riverside drive almost cuts into the roof of this fine old mansion. Italian laborers live in it and unkempt bubbles sprawl upon its porches. A giant apartment house towers over it and only the rays of the western sun ever reach its windows.

It is the old home of John James Audubon, the American naturalist which he purchased in 1842 and lived in for some years with his sons Victor and John and their families. He died there in 1851 and was buried in Trinity cemetery, near the woods that formed part of his estate and which were later called Audubon park. For five or six years Audubon park has been but a memory, only a few dilapidated homes remaining in a hollow hemmed in by modern "bureaus where people live in the drawers."

Satan's Pupil.

The wildest of the north woods red lynx, bay lynx, bobcat, or however we may elect to call him, has been described as a bundle of live wires actuated by the spirit of Satan. Running up to over 40 pounds in weight he is as big as his finer-furred cousin the tufted-eared Canada lynx, far handsomer and much more savage. I have seen them fight dogs desperately, and a full-grown wildcat will play havoc with a flock of sheep. But no cat has ever been known to attack man except in the effort to get away when cornered. Some time ago I found a man in Maine willing to swear before a notary that a bobcat had attacked him without provocation, but I concluded to abide by the advice of Manly Hardy gone from us now, who wrote me that a man who would swear to anything of the kind was a born liar anyhow.—Edward Breck, in Outing.

Handy Book Marker.

Nothing hurts a book more, especially a new book, than laying it down open to keep the place. Instead of doing that, if you are liable to interruption in your reading get a stout rubber band and cover it with ribbon gathered full enough to permit the band's stretching. Then when you need to lay it down it takes hardly a second to stretch the band and slip beneath it the pages read. Upon taking it up again you find your place automatically, moreover, the book mark cannot get lost. Take care to have the band strong enough to hold and big enough not to mar the end of the cover.

Sir Walter's Good Fortunes.

Sir Walter Raleigh had called to take a cup of tea with Queen Elizabeth.

"It was very good of you, Sir Walter," said her majesty, smiling sweetly upon the gallant knight, "to ruin your cloak the other day so that my feet should not be wet by that horrid puddle. May I not instruct my lord high treasurer to reimburse you for it?"

"Don't mention it, your majesty," replied Raleigh. "It only cost two and six and I have already sold it to an American collector for $2,000."—Lippincott's.

Not in the Market.

"Did you hear of the recent cut in iron?"

"No! Is it a fact?"

"Yes. A lot of prisoners saved through their cell bars."

ONE OF THE HEIRS HAS SETTLED

Attleboro, March 31.—George W. Baker, who is a nephew of the late Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, leader of the Christian Science Church, tonight confirmed a report from New Hampshire that he had accepted a settlement in the Eddy will case.

Mr. Baker, whose home is in Tilton, N. H., came to Attleboro some time ago and has since been employed as a printer in an Attleboro establishment. Mr. Baker was found at his boarding house on Park street. He is recovering from an illness that has kept him from his work for the past week and received his call in his room.

"The Globe has received a report from Tilton, N. H., that you have accepted a settlement in the Eddy will case, Mr. Baker, and desires to verify it," said the correspondent to his host.

"The report is true," replied Mr. Baker. Continuing, Mr. Baker said: "A short time ago Frank Streeter, attorney for the estate, made me an offer of settlement. I considered the matter and have notified him that I will accept the offer. I have not yet received the money, but it is forthcoming. I can only tell you that the amount is perfectly satisfactory to me."

Mr. Baker was asked why he accepted a settlement rather than allow the courts to pass upon the case. "I knew it might be a long time before the final decision is reached by the courts. Of course the courts might in the end give me a larger settlement, but I decided that a bird in the hand was worth two in the bush. I chose to accept the money offered me in settlement rather than possibly waiting years for an uncertain sum, even if it should be large."

DIXON CLAIMS VERMONT.

Roosevelt, Leaders There Report "Taft People Are Desperate, and Will Stop at Nothing."

New York, April 1.—Senator Joseph M. Dixon, head of the Roosevelt National Committee, reached New York today on his way to Vermont, and issued a statement claiming the State for Roosevelt.

"We have won Vermont by fair means," the statement reads, "and we do not propose to have the State stolen from us nor have the tactics practiced there that was practiced in Indiana and New York city. We are going to see that there is no more political burglary."

"The Roosevelt leaders in Vermont report they have carried the State, but that the Taft people are desperate and will stop at nothing. It is about time that the American people awake to the realization of the despicable methods that are being pursued to get control of the National convention."

THE LAST WEEK OF "THE LITTLEST REBEL" AT THE BOSTON THEATRE.

This is good-bye week at the Boston Theatre for Dustin and William Farnish and "The Littlest Rebel." Saturday night will be the farewell to the clever actor brothers, fascinating Virgie and big-hearted General Grant. "The Littlest Rebel" is a fitting attraction for the Easter holidays. Mary Miles Minter who has created a sensation as Virgie will linger long in the memory of the Boston theatregoers especially the ladies and children. She is a well drilled and precocious juvenile actress and exhibits a certain natural capacity for acting. "The Littlest Rebel" is heartily recommended as one of the best and most convincing war plays Three characters figure conspicuously in the story—Cary, a Confederate soldier, his little daughter Virgie and Colonel Morrison of the United States cavalry. The most important is General Grant who dominates the last act. Those who have not seen A. H. Wood's magnificent production should avail themselves of the last few opportunities.

Bright sunny skies, a temperature warmed by the south wind and the tang in the air that marked the approach of spring, brought out many churchgoers to the houses of worship in the little island town. "I haven't had time to attend the meetings," is the explanation the veteran navy yard man gives me.—O. C. in Boston Post.

METHODS OF INDUCING SLEEP

Relaxation of the Mind and Muscles is the Principal Thing to Keep in Mind.

How to get to sleep, when every device fails and one feels desperate, is a matter worth solving, especially if there be simple methods that can be tried.

A well-known lecturer on hygiene, whom a very sleepless woman consulted on the subject of bad nights, gave her valuable advice, the efficacy of which she has proved.

"Stretch out your limbs to the full length, with the arms rather close to the sides of the body, and straight down," said he, "or if that is not comfortable, in any downward fashion."

"Sometimes you may find it for the moment regretful to clasp the arms above the head, but on no account give way to the habit of doing so, for this position drives away the blood from the heart and sends it to the head, causing uneasy dreams, and therefore restlessness, and may even prevent sleep altogether."

"Gently close your mouth and breathe through your nose. This is highly important. Then let all the muscles of the face and neck be relaxed, and all muscles of the body, too."

Women of mature age should be as careful as girls to see that they sleep with the mouth shut, for this habit combats a tendency, growing with the years, to drop or protrude the jaw as the face is settling to sleep. A closed mouth and relaxed muscles help to keep you young looking.

Above all, sleep on your right side. Wonderful for inducing sleep is a cup of hot milk sipped slowly in bed the very last thing.

DRAWN LINE AT INKY STAMPS

Uncle Sam Ready to Redeem Them, But They Can Not Be Used to Carry a Letter.

"How dirty can a postage stamp be come and still retain its usefulness in the eyes of the government?" was a question propounded to muddle the already overworked brain of a busy man. Happening to meet a postman who was collecting mail, the man handed him a stamped letter.

"That won't go," said the postman. "Stamp's dirty."

As was his wont on special occasions, he busy man resorted to sarcasm.

"Since when," he demanded, "did the United States government become so immaculate that it requires none but unsullied stamps stuck on its letters?"

"Well, they've always been pretty particular," returned the unperturbed postman, "but there are some kinds of dirt that count for more than others. That stamp got ink on it. Inky stamps won't go, because an ink spot could be used to disguise a canceled stamp."

"Then I suppose every stamp I happen to drop a speck of ink on is wasted?"

"Oh, no. Turn it in to the office where you bought it, and after a certain period you will get your money back."

"How long will that take?" the man asked.

"About three months."

"I'm afraid I can't wait," said the man, and over the discredited stamp he stuck a spotless one.

On Acting.
Acting is not a trade which tends to stability and dignity of character but encourages sensibility and flashes of warm instinct. Extreme alertness to praise and blame, harmoniously combined with vanity and absorption in one topic, are almost a necessity of the occupation; but this existence however narrow and distorted, has the primal virtues of vivaciousness and vitality. It not only depicts human passions, but it also requires in its servants a varied and constantly ready fund of emotions and instincts. Lack of the free air of independence and impartial thought, it has to the full the warm breath of crude and passionate humanity. In feeling, however blind, in life, however fragmentary, the onlooker finds more to love in the players' world than in all the dead decorum of a Philistine prosperity.—Norman Hapgood.

Tact.
Mrs. Smith and her little daughter Margaret, aged two, were spending the summer at the lake. The mother after spoke of the excellent quality of the milk she fed the child. While out walking with little Margaret one day, Mrs. Smith happened to meet the wife of the farmer who supplied the superior milk.

"What do you say, Margaret, to the lady for bringing you such nice milk?" prompted Mrs. Smith.

"How's the cow?" asked Margaret politely.—Women's Home Companion

Not So Nice.
"I know a girl who made a $2 grand nation gown and captured a husband on the strength of it."

"There's a good argument for $2 gowns."

"The trouble is, she caught a $2 husband. He has expected her to dress on that precedent ever since."

Too Tenuous.
"There is only one family line in this country which can bear the burden which are put upon it."

"What is that?"

"The clothe-line."

STILL STICKS TO HIS STORY OF CRIME

Police However Think That Nichols' Story is a Fake

Seth Thomas Nichols the ex-sailor who says he murdered Dr. Helene Knabe of Indianapolis, was taken to the jail today to await more information from the Indianapolis police.
Shortly after arriving at the jail Nichols had a bad fit, which the jail officials say was the result of alcoholism. The Herald man in an interview shortly after he came to told the prisoner that some of the police believe that he was faking the story. Nichols still sticks to it that it is absolute truth and says he has no object in making any false statement. When shown a picture of the murdered woman, he recognized her at once. He informed the Herald man that he was recently married and his wife is dead. His wife who was only 17 years of age was Miss Mary McHale of Pawtucket, R. I. He says they were married on November sixth by a justice of the peace, named Young on Washington street, Boston.
He met her at the home of her sister, Mrs. George Lyons 367-A Tremont street, which is the red light district. His wife died March 11, last of pneumonia. This short period of married life he admits was not the best and there was all kinds of trouble.
The police still stick to it that it is another story such as started the authorities by the statement of a prisoner named Hall on the U. S. S. Southey who claimed that he was responsible for the murder of a girl at Rochester, N. Y., and later in that city proved an alibi.
The police do not credit Nichols' story of how he got away from the ship and back without knowledge of Capt. Robinson of the Dixie at that time. His recollection of what took place in the room at the time and of how he got to and from Dr. Knabe's room, Nichols stated today that the $1500 was not paid to him until she got back to New York. He did not leave Indianapolis until three or four days after the murder and lived on the best in the room of Knight, at his expense. He thinks that previous to the murder and after that Knight had him under a drug as he does not remember starting to New York. He has a dishonorable discharge from the service for desertion.

DETECTIVES DOUBT IT.

Do Not Give Much Credence to Story Told by Nichols.

A dispatch from Indianapolis says police officials and detectives who have been working to solve the mystery surrounding the death of Dr. Helen Knabe, since Oct. 24, 1911, the day her body was found in her apartment with the throat gashed, do not give much credence to the story told by Seth Nichols, under arrest here. It is believed, however, they know more fact than they care to give out. Several persons about the apartment house were arrested at the time of the physician's death, but little evidence against them was obtained.

Women's clubs of that city have offered a reward of $200 for the capture and conviction of the woman slayer.

Portsmouth people will not be unduly and are fast realizing that the only way to get the local news is by reading the Chronicle.
